It all goes back to the roots...

Jana Lubnan came out of our love for good food and out of belonging to the authentic taste of the Lebanese cuisine ingredients.

When we first initiated this venture, it started simple, limited and modest. Our dedication and persistence for quality expanded our business to successfully penetrate, and settle in several markets. We fulfill consumer needs by extending our category list based on local strategies respectively to each market.

The development of the food industry through the years exposes people to a wider range of goods, brands, promotions and offers which lifts the competition to another level. Consumers became educated enough to set criteria and be selective while purchasing. Hence, it raised the challenge in providing "quality & taste" at competitive cost, conserving ultimate hygiene & safety standards.

We constantly strive to cater authentic Lebanese taste and quality that take us back to the days when nature was the only grocery for our food supply. Until today, we are keen to keep up with the food trend development updating our strategy and plans based on external changes and factors.

With the collaboration of International distributors, Jana Lubnan aims to spread the taste and the quality to every continent.

Last but not least, our journey wouldn't have been successful without the support of our partners, distributors, and team; I would like to thank each for their valuable involvement, aiming in building fruitful business with our future associates.

Sincerely,

Ali. Abdel Latif
CEO Jana Lubnan
